

The Department of Computer Science

Marc Magerkorth

"I decided to study Computer Science because I wanted a change from the commerce degree I had started and had done a physics paper as my general education option. I really enjoyed it and decided to change to a commerce and science conjoint. In high school, I had entered programming contests and had enjoyed them so I opted for a Computer Science major. I enjoy studying Computer Science because there is always a way of challenging yourself.

I choose to study at the University of Auckland because of its reputation. You can't really go wrong with a degree from one of the top universities in the world. By studying Computer Science at the University of Auckland you gain really valuable skills and have fun while doing it.

I am not too sure what my future career plans are at the moment but am interested in something to do with IT security."

Marc is in his second year of studying for a conjoint Bachelor of Commerce/Bachelor of Science majoring in Accounting and Computer Science respectively.
